How to Revamp the Walls of Your Home

For those of us who have had to decorate a home, room or anything else and we are faced with a literal wall, there are many ways to deal with the gray and lifeless interior. With a bit of imagination and preparations one can turn pretty much any wall into something worthy of contemplation, being a perfect companion to the rest of the room. Here are some examples on how you can achieve that, starting with the following:

You can decorate your wall by making or purchasing a sculptural bookcase. This bookcase will break up the monotonous look of the bare walls, allowing you to display anything you want on it. It will look good, as well as providing a great spot with a multitude of uses.

- ✦ You can make a room filled with cohesion through the thematic use of decorations. Make sure you focus on a single piece, such as vintage decorations, headboards and other pieces capable of attracting attention.
- ✦ Create a paneled wall for an interesting decoration solution. It will change the looks of a room and you'll have a chance to enjoy it greatly with only a few simple changes.
- ✦ Choosing a single piece for a wall works well, though the variety can be a bit overwhelming. Consider choosing a painting, a typography or maybe even a map for an interesting outcome.
- ✦ Create your own artwork for a customized look, putting your soul into the very decorations of your home. Whether it is a watercolor painting, something you have carved with your own two hands or other aspects of your hobbies, these should reflect your inner world and what you love the most.
- ✦ Consider varieties of colors to make a look like no other. Pastel colors create a sense of calm, green creates a similar effect and so on. There is much one can do with the right combination, so choose wisely.
- ✦ Work on displaying collections of items for a more complex combination of decorations and varieties. This will let you experiment for the best possible results. Consider what would fit in a certain room and look for a symmetry or lack thereof.

- ✦ Make use of shadow boxes to create unique pieces of decoration that break up the empty expanse of a wall.
- ✦ Make a display of postcards, old paper clippings or other elements to create a collage to adorn your walls. You can create something truly wonderful and unforgettable, ripe with details and hidden meanings for those willing to decipher them.
- ✦ Decorate with mirrors to expand the visuals of a room, creating the illusion of space. This will not only serve a purpose of this kind, but it will also break up the walls and allow a look into a mirrored reality.
- ✦ Consider using graffiti through the use of custom stencils or something else. Depending on your skill you may even create an ambiance completely unexpected by anyone who enters your home.
